Woman 'Comes to Life' While Lying in Coffin

PORT-AU-PRINCE, HAITI. — Doctors are still studying the strange case of a young woman discovered to be alive in her coffin just as she was being borne to the burial grounds.

Medical authorities said the woman, Anita Souffrant, 26, had lost consciousness after a six-month disease. The family decided she was dead and decided to bury her.

On the way to the church, mourners were startled to hear noises coming from Anita's coffin.

They looked inside and found her breathing.

A priest ordered the girl taken to General Hospital at Port-au-Prince. Dr. Paul Desmangles, head of the hospital staff, said Anita gained full consciousness three days after her "funeral" and was able to talk intelligently.

He said her illness had been diagnosed as a type of malaria. Her condition now is fair, he said.

Fire-Alarm Boxes Are Found Mostly Unused by Citizens

PONTIAC, MICH. — According to a survey recently completed here, fire alarm boxes aren't used much.

Checking up for the past five years to determine the extent to which the alarm boxes are used, officials found that only 12 per cent of all fires reported in that period were turned in on fire alarm boxes.

Of the alarms received through the alarm boxes, 56 per cent were false, while only 1 per cent of the telephone alarms were false. On the basis of these findings, Pontiac's fire chief and electrical inspector recommended there be no further expansion of the alarm-box system in residential areas. However, it is to be kept intact for all factories, hospitals, schools, and other commercial and public buildings.

Chess Groups Award Prize For Beauty — Years Late

HOLLYWOOD. — The Hollywood chess groups have named Virginia Mayo the most beautiful girl of 1946.

Yep, that's right—1946.

Herman Steiner, United States champion and chess editor of the Los Angeles Times, who heads the groups, said they decided to make the award in 1946, but just hadn't gotten around to it.

As for the delay, well, they're chess players and they don't believe in hurrying.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Bible Lessons for Christian Living
DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Amos, respectably 2:4-16; 3:1-8.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 42:1-4.

Rugged Prophet

Lesson for April 16, 1950

DON'T MAKE the mistake of thinking that the "minor" prophets of the Old Testament were less important than the "majors." The 12 men whose writings end our Old Testament are in no way less important than Isaiah, Jeremiah or Ezekiel. They are called "minor" only because their writings cover fewer pages. First in point of time was Amos.

Ranch-Hand Preacher

AMOS WAS NO city preacher, in fact not a preacher at all. He would not even call himself a prophet. He was a ranch-hand from the back country, more like what we would call a hired hand than a farmer on his own. He had no prestige, no background, no social or official position, no money, no high education, no national reputation, in fact none of the things that make "news" notice" of a strange speaker. He had no lecture bureau, had no luncheon-club, he could not even hire a hall.

But the Lord had spoken to him and he knew it. He was determined that the wealthy people who crowded the temple yard in Bethel should hear him. No doubt the mere sight of the man would attract attention. In his rough working clothes he would look as out-of-place in that well-polished crowd as a huckleberry in a pan of milk.

As his voice, trained in the wide open spaces, rang out over the crowd, a few people may have laughed at first. But a circle of respectful silence would grow around him. Indeed they liked what he said, at first.

Roll-Call of Doomsday

"FOR three transgressions of Damascus, yea for four . . . I will not turn away the punishment thereof," he began. Damascus was capital of Syria, for generations their country's bitter and successful enemy. So when Amos predicted a crash for Syria, you may imagine the applause would be loud.

Then, one after another, as Amos points his finger east, north, south, the lightning of God's curse is called down on enemy after enemy of the nation of Israel. Fire, hurricane, defeat and disaster are foretold for every one.

Too Close Home

EVERYTHING Amos had said was true, and came true; every nation whose downfall he predicted collapsed just as he said it would. But that was not the main reason he had tramped all the way to Bethel. He had some things to say to the very people before him, something about themselves and their own country. So when he had his audience in the palm of his hand, just as they were gloating over the terrible fate of the nations they hated, Amos dropped his bomb on their complacent heads.

"Thus saith the Lord: For three transgressions of ISRAEL, yea for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof." The roll-call of doomsday includes every sinful nation. God has no pets, he plays no favorites. His laws are the same for all men. Naturally, Israelites could well believe that God hated the sins of their enemies. But their own? That was a different story.

Amos plunged from being the most popular sidewalk preacher of his day to being the best-hated man in Israel. In fact, because he dared to name the king as sinner number one, he was accused of treason, a capital crime in any country.

"One Man With God a Majority"

AMOS WROTE OUT his prophecies at some later time and they have been handed down to us with all their fire and force. He took that bears his name.

We shall see in later lessons some of his great messages. What stands out here is this: Truth is sometimes popular, sometimes not, but the living power of truth has nothing to do with the number of people who believe it, or whether it is pleasant, or with the prestige of the man who proclaims it. If it is God's truth, it will live even if the only man who believes it is banished, as Amos was, to the silent wilderness.

Highway Dept. Begins Annual Spring Cleaning

State Highway Department maintenance forces joined housewives throughout Virginia this week in a vigorous spring cleaning.

Keeping Virginia roadsides clean is a continuing operation for highway forces . . . but the work always is heaviest just after spring arrives.

March winds have scattered paper, leaves and debries along the roads throughout the state. Winter ice and snow have left traffic signs spattered with mud and dirt.

In many instances, traffic signs are in for a soap and water scrubdown; sign-posts in poor condition are being replaced; papers, trash tin cans and rubbish are being removed from the right-of-way.

Highway officials hope that their spring cleaning will be completed before Garden Week, which begins April 22, bring thousands of visitors to Virginia.

The department urged property owners along the roads to join the clean-up by removing unsightly trash and rubbish from their fields and lawns.

In line with the coming Garden Week, the highway department will take measures to eliminate dust on non-surfaced secondary roads leading to gardens which will be open to the public.

Efforts will be made to keep routine construction or maintenance from interfering with the thousands of automobiles expected in the garden areas.

The American Legion will have concession stands here Sunday to feed people attending the McLean House Dedication.

School Buses Always Ran

The State Highway Department this week announced that for the fourth consecutive winter not one school bus day was lost in Virginia because of mud on the roads.

Since the winter of 1946-47 (when an extra penny was added to the gasoline tax), the highway department has placed major emphasis on stabilizing school bus routes to all-weather standards.

In the winter of 1946-47, the department adopted the goal, "Not one school bus day lost in Virginia because of mud on the roads." The winter just ended marked the fourth consecutive year that goal has been attained."

Last winter and that of the previous year were unusually mild, leaving the state's roads in good condition, according to highway engineers.

Be at the Old Court House by one P. M. to be sure you will witness the parade of bands! The speaking program at the McLean House Dedication begins at 1:45.
